Join others and participate in the table or blanket-decorating contest sponsored by Coldwell Banker-Marietta West Cobb branch. The contest is held prior to each concert with the winner taking home a picnic basket full of goodies including a complimentary breakfast for 2 at the Hilton Marietta Hotel and Conference Center. Registration is not required and it is free to participate.

Matt Bolton's artwork is featured on the poster. He is a lifelong resident of West Georgia, raised in Lithia Springs and now resides in Bremen with his family. He combines his art training from the University of West Georgia and his natural talent to create a unique style he calls “Dripressionism”. This is a new style of painting where the paint is applied by dripping from a brush much like the style of Jackson Pollock. While participating in the Marietta Art in the Park Festival, the Labor Day art festival, he fell in love with the Marietta Square and is excited to share his art with the community.
